MEDIA ADVISORY

WHAT: Milwaukee Police Chief Nannette Hegerty announces the Milwaukee Police Baseball Card distribution program

WHEN: Thursday, June 23, 2005, 11:30 a.m., before the Milwaukee Brewers' 1:05 p.m. game with the Chicago Cubs

WHERE: On the Concourse behind TGI Friday's Front Row Bullpen tables

DETAILS: The Milwaukee Police Department has brought back the once-popular Milwaukee Brewers' baseball card distribution program.

Milwaukee Police Officers will be handing out the cards to children while officers are on patrol, at community events and at Milwaukee Brewers' games at Miller Park. Each card features an inspirational message chosen by the Milwaukee Brewer player pictured on the front. Two new cards will be issued each week through September 5. This encourages children to seek out officers to secure new cards for their sets and builds a positive relationship between Milwaukee Police Officers and the community.

The cards were generously paid for by Brewers Charities. Brewers Charities is the official charity of the Milwaukee Brewers Baseball Club and supports youth recreation activities, educational and scholarship programs, a complimentary ticket program for community groups and other worthy programs that support kids and families throughout Milwaukee and Wisconsin.
